

#GBBO Drinking Game

Take one sip

If you hear any of the following:

Soggy Bottom	Good Bake	Good Crumb	Good combination of flavours
	Underbaked	Underproved	Abbreviated: crème pat

If there is an unexplained blue plaster

If there is alcohol

If anyone is fanning a bake by non electronic means

If Mel and Sue speak in unison

If anyone attempts a foreign or regional accent that is not their own

If a contestant appears to revel in schadenfreude

If the contestants are shown entering the tent

If it is raining and the camera lingers wistfully on the windows of the tent as if dreaming of a better day

If there is a live wild animal on screen

Take two sips

If you hear someone say crème patissiere and it's not abbreviated

A presenter or judge makes an innuendo

Anyone puns

Anyone uses an ingredient that references their own region or culture

Every time Mary tastes a bake seductively

If the contestant decides to add more alcohol

If a judge declares that there is the correct amount of alcohol in the finished bake (not too much, not too little)

If Paul is able to both tolerate and taste every part of a flavour combination during the judging

If Paul gives a highly skeptical glance during the baking

If Paul says 'that's raw' during the judging

If Paul pauses for a ridiculously long time and then says he likes something that the editing made it look like he would hate

If anyone is fanning their bake with a ridiculous tiny electric fan

If anyone is foolish enough to use pre-made or store-bought ingredients

If Mary licks her fingers

If there is a blue plaster that has been explained

If someone says they've been making the technical since they were a child

If someone does not know what to do with an ingredient in the technical

If Mel and Sue speak nearly in unison but not quite

If anyone watches their oven

If there is a wild animal depicted in baking form

If there is a minor bake drop that can be hidden or repaired

If Mel and/or Sue steals a bake

If a contestant is kind to someone after a mistake

Take a gulp

If the innuendo is by a contestant rather than a presenter

If you hear 'STEP AWAY FROM THE BAKES'

If there is a major medical incident

If there is a serious bake drop

If someone tries to save the serious bake drop anyway

If either Mel or Sue is presenting the whole show alone

If someone bins their bake

If someone accidentally or deliberately sabotages someone else's bake

If a contestant cries

If your favourite comes last.

Down your pint

When the winner is announced.

Pour one out

If anyone mentions Val, and promise to bake everything with love (and possibly not any of the correct ingredients) from now on.
