A TINY TELLING OF FAIRNESS + FREEDOM

First, we fill our cups!

Before we drink, let's take a minute just to think that we are lucky to be here with safety, comfort, friends held dear.
Now drink!

Let's wash our hands!

If You Want to Sing Out Sing Out - Cat Stevens
Imagine - John Lennon
Stand By Me - Ben E. King
Last Night I Had the Strangest Dream - Simon & Garfunkel
Lean on Me - Bill Withers Fight the Power - Public Enemy
Where Have All the Flowers Gone - Pete Seeger Blowin' in the Wind - Bob Dylan
All You Need is Love - The Beatles
This Little Light of Mine - Raffi
I Will Survive - Gloria Gaynor
We Shall Overcome - Pete Seeger
War - Bob Marley
Zombie - The Cranberries
Redemption Song - Bob Marley

The Afikomen has been found?
Then let's all nibble one more round.
Let's end the night, give thanks, and cheer for a world of peace and love next year!

Don't try to tear this zine apart - just flip it over; find the start.
(You read Haggadot from the right and end by singing songs all night!)
So here's a playlist you can sing - it kind of covers everything:

Then take the karpas, dip and taste salt water tears for those displaced For people who've been hurt in fights
For those who've lost their human rights
For friends whose struggles we forget
For strangers we have never met
It's our job to have empathy
Protect each person's dignity
Be brave if something is unfair
Stand up for others, show we care.
Be mindful and show gratitude
And keep a positive attitude!
We crossed the desert safe at last,
and joy would be a selfish thing, so dip again and honour those who struggle while we're in repose.

Made up of matzah, herbs and dates!

Now sandwiches go on our plates he'd add maror, matzot and meat.

He thought since life was bittersweet who said to snack like Scooby-Doo!

Rev Hillel was a famous Jew

And now it's finally time to eat!

Three matzah pieces in a stack:
Break the middle one. Put half back!
The other half will hide until we've eaten, drunk and had our fill.
but if you find it you can win a prize for the Afikomen!

The Story of Passover

Long ago, our family

Were made to live in slavery.

They worked in Egypt night and day,

but made a plan to run away

They lived for decades on the run.

There was no time for anyone to stop and rest or bake some bread.

They worried and were filled with dread.

They ran and hid across the sea.

The slaves were safe and finally free.

Matzah was bread they made in fear.

Now anyone hungry is welcome here.

Let's wash our hands again!

That we're all friends and should be kind.

Let's fill our cups and keep in mind

Feeling unsafe

Not caring about other people

Feeling left out because you're different

Being treated unfairly

Being bullied

Not having any place to live

Not having any money

Being caught in the middle

Being hurt in a fight

Let's think of things that aren't fair and spill some wine to show we care

The littlest kid has a big part now
So please stand up and take a bow
You have a very special task
These four important things to ask:

Why is this night different from all other nights?

1. Why do we eat bread without yeast
(it's very strange bread for a feast?)

We had to run through the desert with haste!

2. Why does the veg have a bitter taste?

To remind us of when things weren't so nice!

3. Why do we dip our food in twice?

The Karpas in water stands for tears.
The Maror in Charoset, sweeter years.

4. Why do we eat while we recline?

We're free now - slaves stood up to dine

Three matzah pieces in a stack: Break the middle one.
Put half back!
The other half will hide until we've eaten, drunk
and had our fill.
But if you find it,
you can win a prize for the afikomen!

(And if you don't believe in ghosts, just raise each glass and make two toasts!)

Choose juice or wine to fill your cup. Do this four times and drink it up. And don't forget to pour two spare for ancestors who may be there!

maror

an egg or an avocado

You can use this as a seder plate - just enlarge and laminate!

charoset

chazaret

a yam

karpas

Seder Plate

Place some salty water here.
The water represents each tear.
